

BRICKLAYERS IDLE
BY COUNCIL'S MOVE

Accuse Building Trades Body of Trying to Force Them to Reject It.

Work on the new building of the Custom National Bank at Columbus Circle was practically at a standstill today because of the calling away from the job of the members of the Building Engineers' Union by Robert F. Brinkley, president of the Building Trades Council.

At the headquarters of the Bricklayers' Union in West 34th street it was said a committee of seven had been appointed, with Richard Bayles as chairman, to go before Mayor Hyson with a complaint that the Building Trades Council was trying to force the Bricklayers' Union to re-enter the control, from which it withdrew some time ago.

Bayles said the action of the council threatened all housing construction in the city. About 1,000 helpers of bricklayers, he said, are members of organizations which belong to the council and the only object of preventing the remaining 5,000 from working was to force them back into the council.

to Reduce Costs.

Co-operative buying of flour to reduce cost, production and problems connected chief topics discussed at the convention of the New York State Association of Bakers at the Hotel Pennsylvania on Oct. 2.

The modern bakery is a model of cleanliness and sanitation, but we are always eager to improve our production, said Max Brueser, Chairman of the Convention Committee.
